The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 4, 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(B) as being anticipated by Kelts, U.S. Pat. App. Pub. #2002/0054134.

Kelts discloses a navigation interface display system that organizes features representing different content genres, or categories. See Figs. 1 & 4. Applicant's contents receiving program executed by a processor is disclosed in Kelts' P.0048 where he discloses that his invention can be implemented in software being stored in a processor readable medium. Applicant's 1st requesting step is taught by Kelts where he discloses a service center (12), or monitoring server (606) and database server ("management site"), is configured to store a plurality of information about different radio stations ("distribution sites") including their respective genres. See Figs. 1 & 6, PP.0069, 0075, 0161-0175. The search tab allows a search query (including a genre) to be entered in the search box ("the 1st requesting step" & "the selection accepting step"), See PP.0079 & .0080. Applicant's "specifying step" is disclosed by Kelts in PP.0081, .0082 where he states that the search results, i.e., a list of stations, responsive to the query entered in the search tab can be displayed by genre. Applicant's 2nd requesting step is disclosed in Kelts' PP.0100 & .0107 where he states that the list of stations that results from the search query allows a user to click on the URL to jump directly to the station's web site, or press the PLAY button to launch the playback of the selected streaming media file.

Claims 2, 3 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Any inquiry concerning this communication should be directed to Creighton H. Smith at telephone number 571/272-7546.
